
Title: A Journal

Author: An Unknown Author

We have almost finished the work on this Magic Door, and are stumped as to why the password will not hold permanently. We have done everything that we would do to a simple magic door, but Vincent insisted on one with 10 syllables. We told him it's not very well possible, but he did come up with the ingenious idea to make it several words said quickly together as one. The only issue is, normal conversation seems to lock up the door, and it will not recognize anything after a short period of time.

We have sent it to the other mage tower for work, I sent it with my wife Maplou.
